Generated Itinerary: Day 1:

Depart from Boston Logan International Airport on an overnight flight to Paris. Ensure to pack appropriately for Paris's typical April weather, which ranges from 45°F to 60°F during the daytime. It's advisable to have an umbrella or raincoat as April tends to be a rainy month in Paris.

Day 2: Arrival in Paris

Arrive in Paris, check in to the hotel (Hotel Lutetia, a well-rated moderately-paced accommodation, for $400 per night), and get some rest. In the afternoon, visit the iconic Eiffel Tower. A ticket for an adult to the top will cost around $30 per person. Following that, enjoy a dinner cruise along the Seine River with Bateaux Parisiens for around $90 per person.

Day 3: Museums and Monuments

Begin your day with a visit to the Louvre Museum; tickets are approximately $20 per person. In the afternoon, visit the Notre-Dame Cathedral, which is free to enter. For dinner, enjoy a classic French meal at Bistro Paul Bert for about $60 per person.

Day 4: Day at Montmartre

Spend the day at Montmartre. Visit the Sacré-Cœur Basilica (free entry) and explore the Place du Tertre. Dine at Le Consulat, a moderately-priced restaurant in the area where a meal would cost around $30 per person.

Day 5: Return

Checkout from the hotel and head to the airport for your return flight to Boston.

Cost Estimate (excluding flights, as prices can vary greatly based on booking time and airline):

- Hotel: $$400 \times 4 \text{ nights} = \1600
- Eiffel Tower: $$30 \times 2 = \60
- Seine River Cruise: $$90 \times 2 = \180
- Louvre Museum: $$20 \times 2 = \40
- Meals: Estimated $$60 \times 2 \text{ people} \times 4 \text{ days} = \480
- Miscellaneous (local transport, souvenirs, etc.): $250

Total: $2610 for 2 people

Please note, flight prices can greatly impact this budget, and I recommend booking flights well in advance to get the best deal. Also, depending on personal spending habits, the miscellaneous category could vary.
